Haute Beauty: What distinguishes the LDNYC smile makeover from other veneer, teeth whitening, and teeth bridging services?

Dr. D uses a holistic approach to smile makeovers. Taking into account the overall oral health, the smile design of the teeth, and the frame of the smile including lips, skin, and shape of the face.

HB: With so much pressure surrounding physical appearance on one's wedding day, and the desire for a "picture-perfect wedding," do you find that there is a much higher demand for LDNYC smile makeover services for individuals planning a wedding? Has it become part of the wedding planning process in a way?

One of the biggest moments of one's life is their wedding day and it is also one of the leading incentives to get that smile one always wanted. With weddings being pushed back due to the pandemic and now finally rescheduled and planned, there has never been as much demand from brides and grooms for smile tweaks and makeovers before their wedding day here at Luxury Dentistry NYC.

HB: How far in advance should they plan to receive their LDNYC smile makeover? Is there any downtime and/or upkeep for the LDNYC smile makeover?

We work on a smile makeover prior to the wedding day with a formula of understanding the aesthetic desire, how much time do we have prior to this date, is the oral health stable and ready for a makeover, and of course the budget. With these details mapped out, we can create a plan that will make those pearly whites stand out on one's wedding day.

HB: Is there any pain associated with the LDNYC smile makeover that brides and grooms should be aware of and take into account?

In today's modern dentistry procedures should be comfortable, conservative, and have minimal downtime. It is, however, super important to let your cosmetic dentist know the wedding date and if there are any engagements or rehearsals prior to be sure your smile makeover is complete before the big day.
